Greetings Sisters and Brothers,

As union members we know first-hand the power of collective action and the importance of helping others. We work tirelessly to improve the lives for everyone living and working in our communities; not just for our own members. That is why the labour movement partners with United Way. Both movements believe that in order for our communities to be great, they must be great for everyone. It is because of these shared values that labour has played an active role in United Ways for decades and will continue to be an ardent supporter. United Way is the only charity the Canadian Labour Congress officially endorses as a matter of policy.

I encourage all unions, locals and members to generously support the 2018 United Way fundraising campaign in your local community. Your gifts of time, energy and money really do have an impact and assist in building strong, resilient communities.

In solidarity,

Bob Bymo, President
